

2022 Jason Goodstriker Memorial Hockey Clinic

Total Energy Services was pleased to host the annual Jason Goodstriker Memorial Hockey Clinic on February 18, 2022 in Slave Lake, Alberta. This annual event is held to honor and remember our former colleague and friend, Chief Jason Goodstriker. Jason tragically passed away on January 15, 2020 while helping to organize and run our inaugural Indigenous Hockey Clinic. Jason was immensely proud of his indigenous heritage and embraced the opportunities afforded by the energy industry to improve the welfare of his people and Canada. Jason was proud to bring people of diverse backgrounds together.

After a two year postponement due to COVID-19, participation in this event was very strong with 96 children from eight indigenous communities registered for the event. Instructors included several prominent Indigenous hockey personnel, including Ted Nolan, Darren Reid and Brigette Lacquette. It was a wonderful experience for everyone involved. Chief Goodstriker would be proud!

We would like to thank all the participants for making this day a wonderful tribute to Chief Goodstriker. A special thank you to our employees for making this event happen, particularly Shawn Gramlich, Travis Stephenson, Todd Pequin, Brent Ehrich and Luke Poppel.

A special thank you to our corporate sponsors for their support:
